Todd L. Belt

Full Bio

Todd L. Belt is Professor of Political Science at the University of Hawai‘i at Hilo. His research and writing focuses on the mass media, public opinion, the presidency, campaigns and elections. He is the co-author of four books: The Post-Heroic Presidency: Leveraged Leadership in an Age of Limits (Praeger, 2nd ed.), The Presidency and Domestic Policy: Comparing Leadership Styles, FDR to Obama (Paradigm, 2nd ed.), We Interrupt This Newscast: How to Improve Local News and Win Ratings, Too (Cambridge University Press), and Getting Involved: A Guide to Student Citizenship (Longman). He has published over a dozen chapters in edited scholarly books, and over two dozen scholarly articles appearing in journals such as Political Communication, the International Journal of Press/Politics, the Journal of Health and Social Behavior, the California Journal of Politics & Policy, Political Linguistics, the Journal of Social Research and Policy, the Presidents and Executive Politics Report, the Columbia Journalism Review, and Campaigns & Elections.

Dr. Belt received his B.A. in Economics and Political Science and the University of California, Irvine, and his M.A. and Ph.D. in Political Science at the University of Southern California, and studied at the Inter-University Consortium for Political and Social Research at the University of Michigan as part of his graduate work. Dr. Belt has worked as a consultant doing public opinion research for interest groups and media market research for think tanks and media corporations. Dr. Belt has been a lecturer or instructor at numerous universities and held a Visiting Scholar position at Kyungpook University in Daegu, South Korea. He is a frequent contributor to media reporting on politics and is the recipient of two teaching awards.

Brief Bio

Todd L. Belt is Professor of Political Science at the University of Hawai‘i at Hilo. His research and writing focuses on the mass media, public opinion, the presidency, campaigns and elections. He is the co-author of four books, has published over a dozen chapters in edited scholarly books and over two dozen scholarly articles. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Southern California and is the recipient of two teaching awards.