

Western Undergraduate Exchange Program

The Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE) is a program of the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE). Through WUE, students in western states may enroll at UH Hilo at a reduced tuition of 150 percent of the institution's regular resident tuition. WUE tuition is considerably less than non-resident tuition.

Eligibility

You must be a resident of Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Wyoming, Washington state, Commonwealth of Northern Marianas or Guam.

Your family's domicile (home) must be maintained as your permanent address throughout the duration of your participation in the WUE program.

Freshmen applications must have a 3.0 cumulative grade-point-average over four years in high school. (Home school students, or students with written evaluations, must have a minimum 1270 combined SAT [EBRW/Math] or 27 composite ACT in lieu of the minimum GPA.)

Transfer applicants must have a 2.8 cumulative grade-point-average with a minimum 24 college transferable credits in order to qualify. GPA's will be calculated using all colleges previously attended.

Restrictions

Nursing majors do not qualify for the WUE program. Exploratory Health Sciences students do qualify but will relinquish WUE status once admitted into the BSN cohort.

Only undergraduate students, and those who have not already earned a baccalaureate degree, qualify.

WUE is awarded only once at the time of admission and will remain in effect for the duration of the student's academic career at UH Hilo.

Non-WUE students who enroll as non-residents will not qualify for WUE status in later terms.

Hawai'i residency can not be established under the WUE program. Students changing their residency will be reclassified to non-resident. Students are only able to apply for Hawai'i residency 12 months after cessation of WUE. Further information on residency regulations are available at www.hawaii.edu.
