Athletics
What’s a Vulcan?
In 1966, the University officially adopted “Vulcan” as their nickname.

Vulcan is the Roman god of Fire and Volcanoes. He was an important member of the pantheon of the Romans. The Vulcan festival, Volcanalia, is held in Italy on August 23, each year. Vulcan is the patron god of artisans and blacksmiths. He was the son of Jupiter and Juno and his home was in the heart of Mount Etna. He fashioned Jupiter’s magical thunderbolts and Cupid’s arrows. His forge was thought to be the source of volcanic activity.

Vulcan’s Greek counterpart is Hephaestus, the God of Destructive Terrestrial Fire and Volcanic Fire. He was the divine inventor and builder of magical things. From Vulcan, we receive the term Vulcanization. This is the treatment of rubber to give it certain qualities, such as strength, elasticity, resistance to solvents, and rendering it impervious to moderate heat and cold.

Emergency Operations & Natural Disasters Info

The Emergency Operations Plan (EOP) shall provide the necessary guidance to organize and direct University of Hawai‘i at Hilo’s and Hawai‘i Community College’s operation in the event of an emergency and/or civil defense action that may be necessary (University of Hawai‘i APM A-9.700, Plan for Emergency and Civil Defense Events).

Link to the UHH Emergency Operations Plan: http://www.uhh.hawaii.edu/emergency/

In event of emergencies, the Emergency Operations Center (EOC) shall be opened and the members of the EOC staff shall report. See “EMERGENCY OPERATIONS CENTER ORGANIZATIONAL CHART”. (http://www.uhh.hawaii.edu/emergency/documents/EOCORGCHART.pdf)

Notifications

The University subscribes to a “ConnectED” service which will contact individuals listed in the EOP via email, phone, and cell phone, in the event of emergency. Additionally, Hawai‘i County Civil Defense (http://co.hawaii.hi.us/cd/) will contact the University directly in certain situations.

Information shall be passed along to the University community by means of email, website updates, and, in some situations, by phone and/or security personnel with bullhorns. News and information may also be passed on to local media for broadcast. Note: UH is implementing a comprehensive system of emergency messaging called UH Alert (http://www.hawaii.edu/alert/).

Current capabilities include email, phone and SMS/text messaging for faculty and staff and email for students. Students, faculty and staff may now sign up online to receive alerts via these channels at https://hawaii.edu/alert/signup.php.

Work is underway to extend SMS/text messaging capability to students. Find out more at: http://www.hawaii.edu/alert/.

Emergency Notification and Synchronized Clock System is a campus-wide network in which every device will display a static “Day, Date and Time” synchronized to the Internet. During an emergency, the static display will turn into a rolling message announcing the nature of the emergency such as “Tsunami Warning,” accompanied by a warning strobe and audio announcements originating from the master transmitter located at Campus Security.
Emergency Preparedness Information and links
In the event of emergency, the best safety measure is to be prepared. Knowing what to do before an emergency happens will allow you to react to the situation quickly and safely. One example could be the preparation of a disaster supply kit. The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) website lists the basic items in a disaster supply kit at www.fema.gov/plan/prepare/basicket.shtm.
- Water & Food
- First aid supplies & Tools
- Clothing, bedding, and sanitation supplies
- Special items (important family documents, baby supplies, etc)

These items should be in an easy transportable container in case you need to evacuate to a shelter. Remember, food and other amenities may not be available at shelters. You need to be able to provide for yourself and your family for the first 72 hours.

Note: Hurricane season in Hawai‘i typically runs from June to the end of November, but earthquakes, tsunamis (caused by local earthquakes or earthquakes in the pacific region), or other emergencies, can happen at any time.
