

Student Health & Wellness Programs presents

Dr. Joseph Keawe‘aimoku Kaholokula

Dr. Joseph Keawe‘aimoku Kaholokula

Keawe‘aimoku Kaholokula has a PhD in clinical psychology and is the Chair and Associate Professor of Native Hawaiian Health and Deputy Director for the Center of Native and Pacific Health Disparities Research in the John A. Burns School of Medicine at the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa. His current research is funded by the National Institutes of Health in the U.S. to examine biological, psychological, and socio-cultural factors (and their interplay) affecting Native Hawaiian and Pacific Islander health and to develop community-based and culturally-relevant interventions. He is also a member of a Native Hawaiian cultural group, called the Halemua o Kūali‘i, dedicated to the perpetuation of Hawaiian cultural practices and values and building strong leaders for our Hawaiian communities.

April 25th, 2016
2-3:30 pm

University Classroom Building
(UCB) Room 100

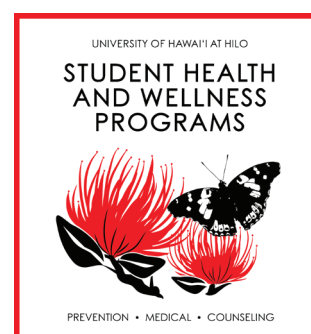

Addressing Gender Based Violence and Social Justice Stewardship within Pacific Islander Populations

This event is open to all UH Hilo ‘ohana

For disability accommodation contact Student Health & Wellness Programs at 932-7465 (V), 932-7002 (TTY) 10 business days before events.

Mahalo to Student Health and Wellness Programs and UH SEED Initiative for Diversity, Equity, Access for Success for making this event possible.

To report a concern or discuss options, please contact: Title IX Coordinator Libby Bailey at 808-932-7818; ehbailey@hawaii.edu

UNIVERSITY of HAWAII®
HILO