Dr. Rachel Griffin

Dr. Rachel Griffin has been actively involved in the movement against gender violence for seven years. Rachel’s passion for gender violence advocacy is derived from her personal experience as a survivor and serving as an advocate for others. Holding a Ph.D. in Intercultural Communication and Diversity in Higher Learning from the University of Denver, Rachel is dedicated to generating social consciousness. Regarding gender violence as tragic, unnecessary, and systemic she understands that raising awareness is a personal and social responsibility that she holds close to her heart.

April 27th, 2015
UH Hilo Campus Center Dining Hall

Disclosing the Darkness of Rape & Revealing the Dangers of Indifference

6-7:30 pm
This event is open to UH Hilo and HawCC students (not community)

For disability accommodation contact Student Health & Wellness Programs at 932-7465 (V), 932-7002 (TTY) 10 business days before events.

Mahalo to Student Health & Wellness Programs, UH SEED Initiative for Diversity, Equity, Access and Success, and the Department of Health for making this event possible.