Read Introduction, and Chs. 3-4 from The Botany of Desire by Michael Pollan (2002). In a 2-3 page essay, address the following questions:

- Explain Pollan’s theory of the “human bumblebee.”
- How does Pollan’s theory differ from how we generally view the relationship between man and agriculture?
- Does Pollan do a better job of supporting his “human bumblebee” theory in the chapter on marijuana or the chapter on the potato? Why?

Make sure to write a coherent essay with an introduction, body and conclusion. You may cite material from the text to support your assertions, but avoid the temptation to rely too much on citations.
